

Cherelle Crews Biography (short)

Cherelle Crews, professionally known as Crews Control, is a producer, musician, songwriter, DJ and Grammy Award-winning engineer from Amityville, NY. A multi-instrumentalist since childhood, she developed her skills in drums, piano, and saxophone before earning a BFA in Music with a concentration in Audio Engineering from City College of New York.

Cherelle has worked with major artists including Raven Symone, Le’Andria Johnson, and Kodak Black, and has collaborated closely with legendary producer Stanley Brown. Her engineering credits include Grammy-winning work on Cory Henry’s Church album and Grammy-nominated projects with Stanley Brown, Shirley Caesar, and more.

As the CEO of Crews Control Entertainment, Cherelle offers production, engineering, live performance, DJ, and education services. Her mission is to build a creative powerhouse and inspire the next generation of musicians and producers.